

EXTENUATING CIRCUMSTANCES LATE FILED AGRICULTURAL CLASSIFICATION APPLICATION

Date _____ Parcel _____ Alt Key _____

The March 1st agricultural classification application deadline has passed. In order to file an application for the current year, this statement of extenuating circumstances must be completed and attached to your application and submitted to the Volusia County Property Appraiser’s office by September 11, 2020.

The Property Appraiser’s decision to grant or deny the application will be reflected on our web site (vcpa.vcgov.org) and on the Notice of Proposed Taxes (TRIM notice) you receive in mid-August.

If you filed an application between March 3rd and July 29th, the TRIM notice you receive will likely reflect your agricultural classification. If not please contact our office.

If you filed an application between July 30th and August 14th, the TRIM notice you receive will not reflect a change in your agricultural classification. You will receive an amended TRIM notice after August 17th with your agricultural classification status; if your agricultural classification has been denied additional documentation will be enclosed.

If you filed an application between August 17th and September 11th, you will receive an AMENDED TRIM notice. If the agricultural classification you applied for is not reflected on the amended TRIM you may appeal by filing a petition with the Value Adjustment Board.

Petitions are available to file through the Value Adjustment Board web site (vab.vcgov.org) or at any of our Property Appraiser’s offices.
